Sample lease on disk. Cascade Natural Gas contractors have their own gate with a pad lock. Access to this gate padlock code is controlled by Cascade Natural Gas.
- d. To my best knowledge no releases of any pollutant have occurred since respondent became manager in 2003.

Respondent has heard of, but has no evidence that other lessors/operators of the property may include:

X. William and Natasha Sesko, 3536 Arsenal Way, Bremerton WA 98312.

(b) (6) (b) (6)

a. The story as respondent understands it is: Bill Sesko was told by the City of Bremerton to remove his Junk from another property owned by him in Bremerton. He moved the "junk" to his waterfront property and Property "A" (McConkey waterfront). The City of Bremerton issued cease and desist orders to both property owners. F. Paul McConkey paid workers to clean up McConkey waterfront and sued Sesko for reimbursement of cleanup. The City of Bremerton paid to have Sesko's property cleaned up and sued Sesko for re-imbursement. This was prior to respondent's time as property manager. For more information I suggest you talk with the City of Bremerton Code Compliance officer Janet Lunceford 360 473-5213

b. Bill Sesko operated a boat haul out on his property using a large crane near the water. He also stored many pieces of equipment and miscellaneous things on his property and then later on property "A" (McConkey waterfront). F. Paul McConkey took photos of Sesko's things and I have included them on Disk (Folder "Sesko") Respondent understands that the City of Bremerton has had many problems with the Sesko's regarding storage of "Junk" on their properties.

c. The Sesko's were able to control access to the properties using a large gate in their fence on Pennsylvania Ave.

d. According to F. Paul McConkey, Bill Sesko unearthed what is now thought to be coal gas sludge while excavating dirt to create a road down to access the water on his property. He then took a jar of the sludge down to the City of Bremerton and told them that because Western Gas Company granted them a perpetual lease to dump refuse and garbage on the property that they are responsible for the sludge on his property, and that the City needed to pay him to clean it up. The City called Washington State Department of Ecology and Norm Peck with D.O.E. looked at a Sanborn map and discovered that the properties were the site of a former MGP.

Sesko also left at least 8 derelict boats on the beach that Washington State Department of Natural resources paid to have removed. *For more information I suggest you contact Melissa Ferris with DNR's Derelict vessel removal program. 360-902-1574.

Bill also excavated and started to remove an underground fuel storage tank on his property and was stopped by the city. See City of Bremerton Code Compliance officer Janet Lunceford 360 473-5213

Property B. The properties history as respondent understands it is that the property was home of Lents Inc. and was owned by Harold D. Lent and Theodore Blomberg. When Lent died Blomberg wanted to sell the company. Lent's was broken up and became a handful of companies'. The sheet metal shop became Ablitt Metal Products and rented building 3. The metal fabrication part of the business became Lee Fabricators and rented building 5,6,7,8,9,10 and part of building 2. The electrical part of the company became Baird Webber Electric and rented part of building 2. There was at least one other company that I have heard of called Fairway Mechanical but I was unable to find any paperwork relating to their time on the property. F. Paul McConkey signed a real estate contract with Blomberg in 1979 and agreed to pay the amount that all the new tenants were paying monthly.
